

Nigeria: Downstream Hydrocarbon Theft

Key Trends & Illicit Networks

Although crude oil theft in Nigeria has long been the subject of intense media attention, the downstream theft of refined oil has remained under the radar. Despite this, the downstream theft of hydrocarbons is big business in the country.

This report outlines the key actors involved in associated illicit networks, what the main trends of downstream hydrocarbon theft are, and who ultimately suffers from this illicit activity.

Publication Date: 2nd May 2017

Table of Contents

NIGERIA: DOWNSTREAM HYDROCARBON THEFT	2
KEY TRENDS IN HYDROCARBON THEFT: A HYDRA-HEADED PROBLEM	3
LARGE-SCALE BUNKERING & TAPPING (INDUSTRIAL LEVEL)	4
SMALL-SCALE BUNKERING & TAPPING	5
THEFT AT EXPORT TERMINALS (REFINERY ONWARD)	6
FUEL TRUCKS (THEFT & DIVERSION OF FUEL)	6
PIRACY & OIL TANKER HIJACKING	7
STRUCTURE OF ILLICIT HYDROCARBON NETWORKS	8
MILITANT-ASSISTED THEFT & ILLICIT NETWORKS	9
MILITARY INVOLVEMENT	10
OFFICIAL INVOLVEMENT	11
CONCLUSION: COSTS OF DOWNSTREAM HYDROCARBON THEFTS	11
ECONOMIC LOSSES FOR THE GOVERNMENT	11
ECONOMIC LOSSES FOR IOCS	13
POLITICAL	13
ENVIRONMENTAL	14
SOCIAL	14
PHYSICAL SECURITY	14
WHAT CAN BE DONE TO PREVENT FURTHER THEFT?	15